YOUR SICK CHILD IS CONSTIPATED! LOOK AT TONGUE

IF CROSS, FEVERISH OR BILIOUS GIVE "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS."

No matter what ails your child, a gentle, thorough laxative should always be the first treatment given. If your little one is out-of-sorts, half-sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally—look! Mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

Mother can rest easy after giving this harmless "fruit laxative," because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach and they dearly love its pleasant taste. "California Syrup of Figs," are due and payable at the office, Oct. 1, 1915. Office open from 8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Additional will be made to all bills remaining unpaid after Oct. 30. CHARLES W. BURTON, Cashier, Oct. 1.

NEW INDUSTRIAL PLAN BY ROCKEFELLER, JR.

To Be Submitted to Officers and Employees of Colorado Fuel & Iron Co.

Denver, Colo., Sept. 30.—An industrial plan which John D. Rockefeller, Jr., characterized as "broader and more democratic than unionism," will be submitted to officers and employees of the Colorado Fuel & Iron company at Pueblo on Saturday. Announcement of the meeting was made by Mr. Rockefeller tonight.

At the conference, besides Mr. Rockefeller, will be the principal operating officials of the company, all the mine superintendents and the grievance representatives of the various Colorado camps. Between 50 and 60 men are expected to attend.

In discussing the meeting, Mr. Rockefeller declined to make public in advance any details of the industrial plan which has been worked out by himself and the company's management in collaboration with President J. F. Welborn and other officers of the company. He said, however, that it was in no sense an attack upon union labor.

"At the outset of the late strike in 1914," he said, "the company took the position that every man who was to work on his own terms and conditions—that he should be free to join a union or not. That position, when stated by me before the congressional strike investigation committee in 1914, was misconstrued in some quarters as a statement that we were fighting organized labor."

"What my statement meant and what the position of the company's officers meant, was that we did not think those of our employees who did not care to join a union should be forced to do so, as would have been the case if we had signed the contract tendered by the United Mine Workers of America. This is the position which I always have maintained."

It is probable no attempt will be made to take action against Archibald.

Jeremiah T. Mahoney Wants $1,000 Damages From John McGarry of New London—Montville Man Hit by Freight Car Sues Central Vermont Road for $1,000

Thames Loan and Trust Co Receiver Takes Legal Action On Two Notes.

Damages of $1,000 for injuries inflicted upon himself when John McGarry assaulted him in New London on Sept. 27, are asked by Jeremiah T. Mahoney of the same town in a suit he has brought in the superior court which is returnable in October. The complainant alleges that McGarry repeatedly struck Mr. Moriarty with his fists, whereby Mr. Moriarty was severely injured about the head and he was also violently thrown to the sidewalk.

Hit on Central Vermont Crossing. William Rousseau of Montville seeks to recover $1,000 damages from the Central Vermont Railway for injuries he received on Aug. 18, when he was struck by a freight car while crossing the railway tracks at a point in Montville known as the Pink Row crossing. His nose was broken, he claims, head cut and bruised and he sustained other permanent injuries. The accident happened when an engine was backing a train of freight cars over the crossing without it, it is claimed, sounding any bell or whistle, and there were no gates nor any danger mountain warning by the railroad at the crossing. By reason of the failure of the train to give warning, the plaintiff was aware of the approach of the engine and cars.

Now the Time to Go After Gypsy Moth. Effective Work Against the Pests Can Be Done in Fall.

In the areas infested by the gypsy moth or the brown tail moth, much effective work can be done in the fall to reduce the damage that these insects are likely to cause the following year, according to entomologists of the United States department of agriculture. The caterpillars of the brown tail moth spin a web in the fall which remains on the tips of the branches and trunks of trees in the winter. These webs should be cut and burned so that injury will not be caused by the caterpillars the following year. The damage which is likely to result, as much time as possible should be devoted to cutting and burning worthless or seedling apple trees and cherry trees. If these insects are done along the roadways and fences the appearance of the region will be greatly improved. Care should be taken to destroy the caterpillars of the brown tail moth or by the general clean up such as has been mentioned will greatly assist in controlling the pest. The caterpillars of the brown tail moth and of the gypsy moth, and whenever it is possible to eliminate oaks less annoyance from the pest will be experienced.

In cutting wood in the winter for the purposes of fuel, the farmer would do well to select and cut trees which are infested with these insects. In this way he will not only secure the fuel which he desires, but will at the same time decrease the food supply of the pests mentioned. It is needless to say that in cutting wood for fuel, all sickly or diseased trees should be selected so that the stand outside the forest will be improved. Each owner must make the selection for himself but a great deal can be accomplished by planning the work in little advance so that the necessary amount of fuel can be obtained, the preferred food plants of these insects reduced in number, and the condition of the woodlot improved.

The gypsy moth occurs in the egg stage during the winter, and much valuable work can be done in brining about its control. The eggs are covered with a waxy, yellowish substance which, when brushed with creosote, applied with a brush. This destroys the eggs so that the next brood of caterpillars is reduced.

Quarantine Areas.

For the information of residents of the district infested by the gypsy moth and the brown tail moth, it should be said that this area has been placed under quarantine by the federal horticultural board, and that nursery stock and living plants cannot be shipped outside the area. The trees or plants have been examined by an authorized inspector. The same products, as well as Christmas trees, cuttings and shrubs, cannot be shipped outside the area infested by the gypsy moth unless they have been inspected and certified to be free from the pest. The purpose of this quarantine is to prevent these insects from becoming established in other parts of the United States.

Webs of the brown tail moth which are present on the trees during the winter and egg clusters of the gypsy moth, should be removed from the wood, lumber, boxes, crates or other containers which are stored near infested trees, are likely to be shipped long distances and cause damage to owners should be particularly careful to keep their grounds free from these insects and, in case shipments of any kind are to be made, to notify the nearest inspector so that there will be no delay in having the examination made in order that the goods may go forward without interruption.

Gypsy moth or brown tail moth infestation should be treated with special care from material from which wood or plant products are to be shipped. The work on these insects which is being carried on by the department is directed from the branch office of the Bureau of Entomology, 44 Tremont street, Boston, Mass.

To Collect Notes and Mortgage.

On two counts, Receiver Amos A. Browning of the Thames Loan and Trust company has brought suit against William M. Anderson of Lyme for foreclosure of a mortgage for $2,000 on real estate in the town of Lyme which William M. Anderson is now in possession of. On Feb. 24, 1912, Mr. Anderson gave John Manwaring, Jr., a note and mortgage on the land for $2,000 and the note was endorsed by Mr. Manwaring to the Thames Loan and Trust company, which now owns the note. Mr. Tubbs claims an interest in the land by virtue of an assignment in trust for creditors made by William M. Anderson to J. H. Tubbs by a trust deed dated Aug. 20, 1911, which is not recorded, but is on file with the Lyme probate court. In the second count the suit is on an unsecured note for $2,000 given on Feb. 2, 1912, given to John Manwaring, Jr., which Mr. Manwaring endorsed to the Trust company, which still owns the unpaid note. Under the second count $2,000 damages are asked by way of legal relief.

Papers in all these suits were filed on Thursday at the office of the clerk of the superior court.

JITNEY DRIVER WEIMER'S LICENSE IS SUSPENDED

Pending His Trial for Fatal Accident in This City.

Secretary of State Charles D. Burnes has suspended the driver's license held by John Weimer of Eastern avenue, New London. Notification of the suspension was sent to the police department Thursday.

$6,000 FIRE LOSS AT SOUND VIEW.

Casino and Two Cottages Burned—Bucket Brigade Fought Hard.

The Sound View casino and two summer houses at Sound View were destroyed by fire Thursday morning. The casino and one of the cottages were owned by Salvatore Satriano, a Hartford grocer; the other cottage was owned by Edward J. Satriano, a River. The total loss is placed at $6,000.

The origin of the fire is unknown. It started in a cottage owned by Mr. Bidwell and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Cooper of Mystic. Mr. Cooper is an electrician and has been making his home at the cottage while doing work in other buildings at Sound View. Wednesday night Mrs. Cooper was at her home in Mystic and Mr. Cooper was alone at the cottage. Thursday morning he left the house about 6 o'clock and at 9 o'clock he was discovered by H. A. Still, who lives nearby.

Mr. Still gave the alarm and a phone message was sent to the operator at Lyme, who in turn notified several residents of Lyme village. In a few minutes a bucket brigade of 76 had been organized. A hose was stretched from a hydrant nearby and the volunteer fire fighters, many of whom came from Lyme in machines, fought the fire energetically.

Meantime word was sent to New London with a request for help. The Niagara Engine Co.'s auto chemical was rushed out and arrived about 9:40. By this time the fire was under control.

The Bidwell cottage quickly burned to the ground. Mr. and Mrs. Cooper's personal effects were all destroyed, as there was no chance to save any of them. Their personal loss will be about $300.

The fire soon spread to the casino, which is used as a moving picture theatre in the summer season, and to an adjoining cottage. By quick work almost all the chairs were gotten out of the casino before it went up in flames. A picture machine was burned up.

Sparks landed on the roofs of the Sound View hotel and a cottage near by. Miss Julia Sullivan of Hartford, but the volunteer fire fighters drenched them as soon as they struck the roofs. The cottage and the hotel were not slightly damaged. There was no wind of any account when the fire was on, which prevented a more serious loss.

The casino at Sound View closed early this month and practically no one is left at the beach with the exception of carpenters, electricians and others who are at work on the cottages there. The Sound View hotel is not closed, but there are no guests there, simply the owners and men in their employ who are doing repair work.

The volunteer fire fighters did fine work. Postmaster Dexter S. Case and other prominent residents were in the thick of it working hard until the fire was under control.
